

MID-TERM CASE STUDY

Australian Laureate Fellowships

Australian Laureate Fellows please note:

- From 2016 the ARC Funding/Grant Agreements require Australian Laureate Fellows to submit a mid-term case study for their research project.
- The case study must be completed by the Fellow, 2.5 years into their Project (after their official commencement date).
- The purpose of this document is to collect information on the achievements and/or issues encountered within the Laureates scheme while the Projects are still active. This document is not used for the purposes of assessing the individual Project.
- Information provided in this document may be used to create 'good news' stories that may be shared publicly. If there is content in the case study that is sensitive or confidential, please indicate this in the document.
- Variations and/or changes to the Project should not be reported via this form. All variations must be submitted via RMS as per the ARC approved processes.
- While there is no limit to the amount of text that can be included in answers to questions, the ARC is generally seeking a maximum of 2 pages of information, excluding the certification page.
- A completed document should be saved as a Microsoft Word or PDF. The file name for the document should conform to the following naming convention: [ProjectID]_[Fellow_Surname]_[Year].doc or .pdf;
- Fellows should submit electronic copies of their completed case study to the Research Office of their Administering Organisation. Paper copies should not be submitted or sent directly to the ARC.

Research Administrators please note:

- Please ensure that file names conform to the naming convention detailed above.
- Mid-term case study reports should be submitted to the ARC in electronic (Word or PDF) format only.
- Electronic copies should be emailed to the ARC at ARC-Postaward@arc.gov.au.
